how safe is your data..?

Data is the lifeline of today's business for both commercial and non commercial organizations.
Your accounts, your sales documents, your inventory statements, your personal files and anything and everything are stored on your computer.
What if a sudden crash of system or some software corruption or some malicious virus erases all your data and leaves you and your business blank.
The technology comes handy when it comes to data protection,
NAS – latest concept of data safety and storage can give you peace of mind over the safety of your data.

A NAS unit is a self-contained computer connected to your network, with the sole purpose of supplying file-based data storage services to other devices on your network. The operating system and other software on the NAS unit provide the functionality of data storage, file systems, and access to files, and the management of these functionalities. NAS units do not have a keyboard or display, and are controlled and configured over the network, often by connecting a browser to their network address.   A user friendly interface will help even a common man to operate with ease. NAS is a proven and tested system for keeping your data safe and accessible at your will.

Why NAS..?

Your data is Highly Secure - You can stop losing sleep over your data's safety

NAS doesn't cost the earth - Range starts from 35,000/-

Can be customized - From a 5 system network upwards, we can customize to suit the network size

Just a one time investment Once you buy it – forget it

User friendly - Very easy user interface no tech know-how required

Flexible - Can handle multiple backups at the same time

Can support laptops when connected to the n/w

Scalable - Can be scaled up later also with marginal expending

Why ACME..?

With over two decades of experience, Acme has been offering end to end solutions in the core IT Hardware business. Having served customers from SOHO to Corporate, Acme has better insight into the customer's need and can address the same efficiently at an affordable cost.

Rest assured, your data management is in safe hands.

WE DELIVER
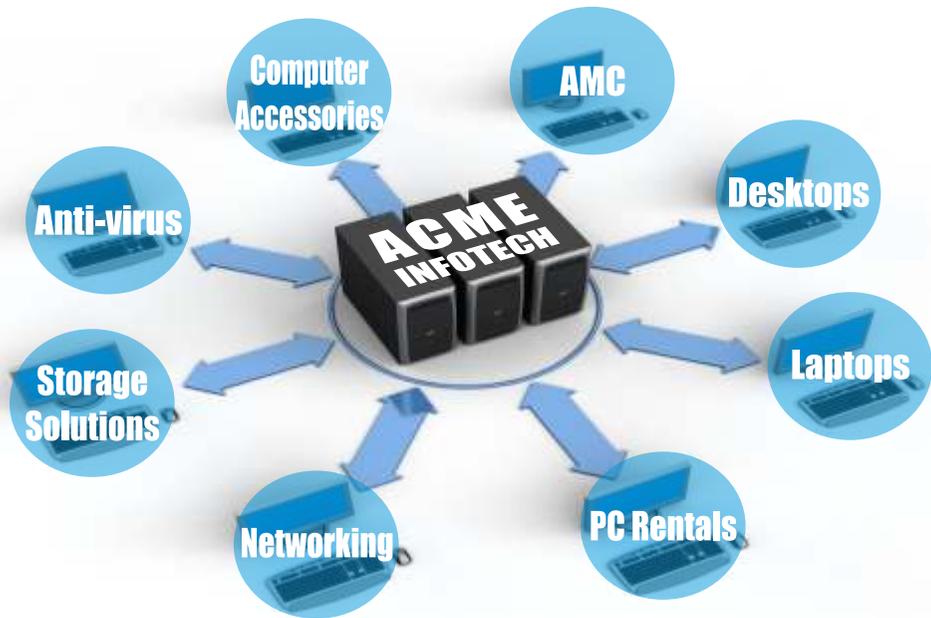

On Time, Every Time & At An Affordable Dime

Call us today for an experience you have always wanted
98410 40588

Acme Infotech with more than 20 years standing has been offering IT hardware solutions to customers of various business domains of all sizes. Acme understands the customers needs quite well and is geared up to address their requirements with ease. We are driven by a team of experienced professionals who understand the customers, their problems, priorities and their specific needs, and are backed by infrastructure, inventory, tested systems and support team.